

Sunset Way Residents' Letter of Appeal for Maju Forest
Signatories as of 10 September 2026.

Mr Christopher de Souza
Member of Parliament
Holland-Bukit Timah GRC

Dear Mr de Souza,

Re: Appeal to exhaust all reasonable alternatives before the irreversible loss of Maju Forest

We write as residents of Sunset Way and the surrounding neighbourhood who have come together under the banner of Saving Maju Forest. The conversation around Maju Forest has become part of a wider national discussion about how Singapore balances its pressing developmental needs with its aspiration to be a City in Nature. We believe Maju Forest presents an opportunity to demonstrate that these objectives need not always be in conflict. We respectfully seek your support in urging the relevant authorities to exhaust every reasonable planning alternative before proceeding with the irreversible transformation of one of western Singapore's most significant mature green spaces.

We recognise that Singapore's housing needs are real and that difficult planning decisions are inevitable. Yet it is precisely because such decisions are irreversible that they deserve the greatest care. Once a mature forest is cleared, future generations may plant trees, but they will not recreate within their lifetimes the living ecological community that has taken decades to evolve.

Many of us have lived here for decades without ever feeling compelled to write collectively to our Member of Parliament on a planning matter. The emergence of this movement is therefore not routine opposition to development. It reflects a profound belief that Maju Forest is an exceptional place deserving exceptional consideration.

Residents young and old have found common purpose in a way few local issues have inspired. Families, students, professionals and retirees have come together not simply to protest, but to participate constructively in shaping the future of the place they call home.

This remarkable groundswell reminds us that civic engagement is strongest when people believe their voices can still influence an outcome that will outlast them.

Our concerns extend well beyond biodiversity. Maju Forest undoubtedly supports remarkable wildlife, including the critically endangered Sunda pangolin and rare forest birds. But what is at stake is also the character of an entire neighbourhood: traffic, noise, recreation, mental well-being, heritage, mature greenery, and the everyday relationship between residents and the landscape in which many of us have grown old, raised our children and built our lives.

Increasingly, residents find themselves asking a question that reaches far beyond Sunset Way:

What kind of City in Nature are we becoming?

This is not a question posed against development. It is a question about how development is pursued when genuine alternatives may still exist. It asks whether, in striving to meet today's needs, we have fully explored every reasonable opportunity to preserve irreplaceable natural landscapes that enrich tomorrow's Singapore.

While development plans for Maju Forest have invoked outrage among residents, the response from the community has been thoughtful and hopeful. Residents have begun documenting the forest's biodiversity through photographs and field observations, sharing these discoveries online, and encouraging fellow Singaporeans to walk the former railway corridor to experience first-hand its ecological richness, tranquillity and heritage. For many, a single walk through Maju Forest has transformed an abstract planning proposal into a place whose value cannot be understood from maps alone.

The movement to save Maju Forest is therefore about more than preserving a fragment of woodland. It reflects an aspiration for a Singapore that continues to demonstrate that progress and restraint need not be opposing ideals. A City in Nature is ultimately defined not only by the parks and buildings it creates, but also by the rare places it has the wisdom to leave largely intact.

We therefore respectfully urge that every reasonable alternative be rigorously evaluated before any irreversible decision is taken. Where opportunities exist to reduce forest loss, retain larger ecological corridors, or achieve housing objectives through less environmentally damaging approaches, we ask that these options be transparently examined and meaningfully considered.

Singapore has earned international respect for showing that urban development and environmental stewardship can coexist. Maju Forest offers an opportunity to reaffirm that principle in one of the most consequential planning decisions our community has faced in decades.

We hope you will lend your voice to ensuring that this decision is approached with the care, imagination and long-term perspective it deserves. The decision on Maju Forest will be remembered not simply for what was built, but for what Singapore chose to preserve when a genuine choice still existed.

Thank you for your consideration and your continued service to our community.

Yours sincerely,

Saving Maju Forest

On behalf of concerned residents of Sunset Way and the surrounding community
